

Acting for Film and Television Program

Thank you for your interest in the Acting for Film and Television program. Come and join a group of professionals who will support you in preparing to be the best actor you can be. Our Acting for Film and Television program is at the forefront of developing actor/entrepreneurs and all of our faculty are working, industry professionals.

Our focus continues to be superior actor training with courses in voice, speech, movement, acting, scene study and auditioning for film and television. But in light of the changing nature of the industry you will also study film editing, screenwriting, stunt training, voice-over acting, self-marketing and acting with technology (eg. Green screen), with an emphasis on creating your own work.

In order to be admitted into the program please take note of the following in order to assist you in understanding the selection process. Please carefully review the following information:

Audition process

Entrance to our program requires a successfully adjudicated audition which is Theatre, Film and Digital Media Industry standard protocol. We currently have 1 option for live, in person, auditions on Saturday February 19, 2022 (Niagara College, Welland Campus) and plan to add another in correlation to our 2022 Spring Open House date TBD. We will also have multiple options for live, virtual auditions between January and March 2022. Please check the www.niagaracollege.ca/preacting for audition date registration beginning in November. Participation at one of these live sessions is a requirement, however, applicants who live outside of Canada may follow instructions below for electronic submission instead. Additionally, after March 2022 if there are still spots available in the program after the live and virtual auditions are complete you may also submit electronically. If there are other special considerations regarding the audition requirements please contact the faculty below.

For your audition, memorize two monologues that are each one and a half to two minutes in length. The pieces should be contrasting and contemporary. For example: one could be dramatic and the other comedic. They can be from plays, movies, television or other digital media shows.

Choose something that is age-appropriate

We want to see your version of whatever you choose; make it your own. Remember preparation creates confidence.

Understand that we may give you feedback or an adjustment and ask to see it again in the live, or virtual live audition.
